

Faculty of Management

School of Information Management
Dalhousie University

Lecturer (term position)

The Dalhousie School of Information Management (SIM) invites applications for a three-year term appointment at the level of Lecturer commencing July 1, 2012.

The School offers two graduate programs and contributes to a collaboratively-delivered undergraduate program. At the graduate level, SIM provides the American Library Association-accredited Master of Library and Information Studies (MLIS) program, and the mid-career online Master of Information Management (MIM) program. At the undergraduate level, the School provides core and elective courses in the Bachelor of Management program, notably in the Knowledge Management major.

The School is part of the interdisciplinary Faculty of Management, with the Schools of Business Administration, Public Administration, Resource and Environmental Studies, and the Marine Affairs Program. The Faculty of Management has a commitment to values-based management with a focus on sustainability, and getting things done. We seek an additional colleague who will contribute to, and thrive in, this environment. Information about the School may be found at <http://sim.management.dal.ca>

The successful candidate will have:

- MLIS or equivalent degree from an accredited program.
- Professional experience in the private or public sectors as a qualified information management professional.
- Experience teaching at the graduate level is required. Experience in undergraduate teaching, as well as with online tools and pedagogy, will be an asset.
- Proven track record of success with strategically engaging target audiences using contemporary and emerging marketing techniques and tools.

- Research experience relating to the private or public sector will be an asset.

The successful candidate will contribute to the School's research agenda. The candidate will have prior professional and instructional experience relevant for teaching core or elective courses in at least two of the School's programs in the following areas:

- Information and user services
- Public and private sector information management
- Information policy

Marketing of the MIM program in the private and public sectors is a required component of this position and may require some travel. Further information about the MIM program may be found at <http://mim.management.dal.ca>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. Dalhousie University is an Employment Equity/Affirmative Action employer. The University encourages applications from qualified Aboriginal people, persons with a disability, racially visible persons and women.

Deadline for applications: March 15, 2012

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching and research interests, and three confidential letters of reference (forwarded under separate cover from the referees) to:
